About this release

"Kill Your TV". Could a band called Must Go Radio have come up with a better title for a song? No, we don't believe so either.

Rust Music's release number 6 is yet another debut from a very promising up and coming name, home-grown and ready for the rest of the world.

Must Go Radio's debut EP is a mixture of indie sounds and electro vibes, one that you don't want to miss. Gritty yet poppy tunes built on frenzy guitar playing and polyphonic drum patterns, topped off with the harmonic twin singing of Rasmus Torp Littauer and Anders Møller Toft.

Biography

Must Go Radio are four young gents from the city of Aarhus. They moved to Copenhagen to spread the good vibrations using happy and danceable tones. And that is precisely where and why we discovered them. To pass the good vibe on and make sure that as many as possible know that they Must Go Radio.

The four guys describe themselves as being diametrically opposite, with such different backgrounds as polka, jazz, Balkan, sea shanties, tango, hip hop and electronic music fusion project Analogik and electronic trio Zvook Mescaline.

The band creates a unique combination of indie and electro, more addictive than smoking and much healthier too. The Danish music site Frekvens described them as "the electro rocking Danish counterpart to a discotheque rendezvous between Happy Mondays and The Klaxons.

The Must Go Radio takes its beginning in August 2008 and the group quickly got gigs at respectful Danish venues such as Vega and Voxhall, and as if that wasn't enough Danish music magazine Soundvenue dubbed the band "Soundvenue Selected", a title given only to promising up and coming music.

With this EP Rust Music aims to bring this wonderful sound out to as many people as possible and prepare the world for the Must Go Radio long player in late 2009.
